Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 2-14 and 27-32 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of copending Application No. 10/666048. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the required smaller particle sizes of the '048 application fall within the range of the instant claims and the "comprising" language of the instant claims allows for the processing of the carbon blacks processed in the '048 application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Market et al'407. Market et al'406 teaches a product meeting the requirements of the above claims at least since the above are prodsct claims, and the manner in which the product is produced cannot be relied upon to patentably distinguish claims to the product itself.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-14 and 27-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Market et al'407. Market et al'407 teaches a method of treating carbonaceous particulate material comprising coke or graphite where the carbonaceous material is introduced into an electrothermal fluidized bed furnace (10) which includes a first cylindrical portion (25), a conical portion (21) below the first cylindrical portion (25) including a plurality of nozzles (53) therein for introducing a fluidizing gas, and an upper, second cylindrical portion (20) with a larger diameter than the first cylindrical portion, at least one electrode 911) extending through the first and second cylindrical portions, a treated material discharge pipe (52) at the end of the conical portion (21) a raw material feed pipe (22) introducing feed material into the first cylindrical portion and a gas discharge pipe (23) at the top of the furnace, where the furnace is operated continuously, thereby showing all aspects of the above claims except the specifically recited nozzle orientation, although the operation of market et al'407 is for the same purpose as instantly recited with substantially the same stated results. The subject matter as a whole would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because it has been well settled that where, as in the instant case, a component (the nozzles 53 of Market et al) is shown by the applied prior art, motivation to shift the location or orientation of the component without materially altering the function of the component, wo0uld have been a modification obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made. See MPEP 2144.04 VI C. In the instant case, motivation to alter the arrangement or location of the nozzles of Market et al to any other equally useful orientation or location would have been a modification obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2-14 and 27-34 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
